Field Tour
Year: 2022-2023
Department of Economics
Gogamukh College

1. Date: 05-03-2023
2. Place: Majuli
3. Description About the Location:

Majuli is a picturesque river island located in the North-Eastern state of Assam, India. It is often considered the world's largest river island and is renowned for its unique blend of cultural, natural, and spiritual significance.

Geographical Location: Majuli is situated in the Brahmaputra River, one of India's major rivers, in the eastern region of Assam. It is approximately 20 kilometers away from the city of Jorhat and covers an area of around 352 square kilometers.

Natural Beauty: The island is known for its stunning natural beauty, characterized by lush green landscapes, wetlands, and the ever-changing course of the Brahmaputra River. The island is prone to seasonal flooding, which shapes its topography and sustains its fertile soil.

Cultural Significance: Majuli is a hub of Assamese culture and spirituality. It is home to various ethnic communities, with the Mishing tribe being one of the prominent ones. The island is known for its vibrant folk traditions, music, dance, and the art of mask-making, which are celebrated during numerous festivals and cultural events.

Vaishnavite Heritage: Majuli is closely associated with the 15th-century saint and reformer, Srimanta Sankardev, and his disciple, Madhavdev. The island houses numerous Vaishnavite monasteries or "Sattras," which are centers of religious and cultural activities. The Sattras preserve ancient manuscripts, religious artifacts, and traditional performing arts.

Biodiversity: Majuli is a biodiversity hotspot and home to various rare and endangered species of flora and fauna. It is a birdwatcher's paradise, with migratory birds flocking to the island during the winter months. The surrounding wetlands are essential for the survival of several aquatic species.

4. Aim Of Study:

- A. To gain insights into the global renown of Chamaguri Satra and its historical significance in the realm of mask culture.
- B. To understand how the art of mask-making culture sustains the livelihoods of those deeply involved in this craft.

Permission letter (10-06-2022) and List of students for field work

Department of Geography, 15/06/2022:-

Report on "Field trip to study the floods and bank erosion of Majuli, Assam"

Introductions and Study area :-

On 12 Jun 2022, the 6th semester students of Department of Geography arranged a field trip to study the floods and bank erosion of Majuli, Assam to fulfill the requirements of their disaster management based project work in their 6th semester syllabus of CBCS curriculum. The largest river island is a home to 1,67,245 people (2011) and the pristine cultural heritage of Assam and the Vaisnavite shrines, popularly known as Satras. As such, the island has been a principal place of pilgrimage for the last 400 years. However, presently it is well known for having suffered from two natural hazards- severe bank erosion and flooding cause by the erratic behaviour of the river Brahmaputra. The Brahmaputra river is characterized by high seasonal variability in monsoon flow, sediment transport and channel pattern, it creates severe bank erosion and flood to Majuli every year.

Objective:-

- The main objective of the project is to develop understanding of the learner about "Disaster Management" and to make the students' aware about the concepts of hazards, risk and vulnerability.
- To familiar with the measures taken to control bank erosion and flood.
- To familiar with the Socio-economic conditions of the people of Majuli, Assam.

Methodology:-

To fulfill the objectives of the study both primary and secondary data has been collected. Relevant information was collected by personnel interview from the office of DC and other officials of revenue circle authority. Field visits were done to get first hand observation of bank erosion and flood affected areas. Cultural heritage site were also visited to develop better understanding about Socio-economic and cultural heritage of Majuli.

Observation:-

- The flood of Brahmaputra river has been creating havoc every year in the island. This year over 1875 hectares of croplands were damaged by flood.
- Bank erosion was commonly observed in different areas (6.7 km² per year), like Bengena Ati, Naya Bojar and Nimati Ghat area.
- Flood and bank erosion has a disastrous impact on the environment and ecology of the island.
- Government has constructed more than 100 km embankment surrounding the island in an effort to give relief from recurring floods.
- Majuli is the hub of Assamese new-Vaishnavism and represent the colourful Assamese culture. It is a home to diverse ethnic peoples, tribes and castes of Assam.

Outcome:-

They were able to relate the concept and lessons though in the classroom and read from the books or hearing from all other sources to their ground reality. It gives the students an access to learn how bank erosion and flood seriously disrupts the topography and society of a place (Majuli). They observed how people and environment were adversely affected by natural disaster and people suffer for their survival. By visiting Satras (Namgnar/ Vaishnavism monastic) they understood the Satriya culture, history and heritage of Majuli as well as Assam.
